Debs Goes To Washington And Talks To Daugherty; Makes Round Trip Alone

Attorney General Sends for Famous Socialist Prisoner and Hears His Plea for Clemency.

APPROVAL OF HARDING SECURED FOR JOURNEY

Daugherty Says Interview Planned to Make Inquiries in Connection With Probe of Case.

Washington, March 24.—Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, serving a term in Atlanta penitentiary, made a plea for clemency to Attorney General Daugherty in person Thursday.

Debs left the prison and came here alone, without guard or escort, and returned the same way. Records of the department of justice do not disclose a similar incident.

The whole proceeding was under instructions from Daugherty, to which President Harding had given his approval.

Debs went immediately to the department of justice when he arrived, and was with Daugherty for two hours and a half. He returned to Atlanta on the next train. Solicitor-General Boykin, who was the only other person present when Debs and Daugherty talked.

President Harding had asked Daugherty to review Debs' case, and recommend whether or not pardon or commutation of sentence should be granted. Attorney-General almer urged clemency, but President Wilson refused it, and friends of Debs since then renewed their agitation for his release.

"I was not afraid Debs would try to escape," said Daugherty. "I instructed the warden of the penitentiary to arrange for him to come here."

Seemed Fairly Well. Asked how Debs looked, Daugherty said: "He seemed fairly well, although he was nervous. This may be natural, so far as I know, for I was not familiar with his appearance before."

Ill health and advanced years have been used as arguments in Debs' behalf. Daugherty said these things would be taken into consideration in making recommendations.

He would not indicate when he would communicate with President Harding, nor what course he might suggest. He stressed the fact that the Debs case did not involve the general policy toward the so-called political prisoners.

"Debs presented his own case to the trial court and jury," said Daugherty. "He was permitted to do so here."

A formal statement from Daugherty said:

"In connection with the investigation of the Debs case, and after conference with the president and with his approval, I had Debs come here for the purpose of making certain inquiries of him. He has returned to Atlanta. I have asked him to refrain from saying anything regarding the subject of the inquiries made. I am sure no well-meaning person will urge him to discuss this matter or anything that took place on his journey or during his stay here. The Debs

To Dismiss Teachers Who Attend Dances, Says Superintendent

Morgantown, W. Va., March 24.—R. C. Smith, superintendent of Morgantown public schools, announced today that teachers who attended dances during the school year will not be re-employed next year. This rule, Mr. Smith said, was adopted by the board of education, which decided that teachers who attended dances were inclined to neglect their school work.

TALE OF MURDER AND SERVITUDE TOLD BY NEGRO

Says Jasper County Man Held Negroes in Peonage and Caused Many Deaths.

NEWTON GRAND JURY HOLDS JOHN WILLIAMS

Alleged Accomplice Says Eleven Negroes Were Killed to Prevent Informing.

Sensational disclosures of alleged peonage and killing in Jasper county mark the sequel to recent discoveries of dead bodies of negroes mysteriously chained and weighted in Yellow river, near Covington.

Operation of a large plantation in peonage, maintained by and over the blacks with the aid of a member of their race, an organized rule by which plantation workers were held in servitude, and the systematic slaying of all who were feared as possible informers featured the revelations made by a grand jury meeting in that town.

Jointly indicted with the plantation owner is the negro, Clyde Manning, by whom the confession was made, and who is held for safe keeping in the Atlanta jail.

Confession to Officers. The confession, it is said, was made earlier in the day to Deputy Sheriff Johnson, of Covington, by whom the negro was brought to Atlanta. Williams is in the Newton county jail. Both white man and black are held without bond. As a material witness in connection with the murder case, Clyde Manning, a negro understood to have been connected with Williams' alleged establishment in Jasper county, is also held in the Fulton tower.

That eleven negroes met death at the hands of Williams and himself was a statement in the alleged confessions of the negro Manning. He declared that he helped Williams kill the men, six of whom were thrown into the Yellow river, chained and weighted, and five of whom were killed by other methods and buried.

In his confession, the negro is said to have represented himself as not only the accomplice, but the confidante of Williams. He stated that Williams would come to him for a killing and say, "Cyde, I'm scared of that negro," meaning that he considered the black indicated a possible informer, and considered it best that he should be killed for the safety of himself.

Federal Probe. A federal investigation of peonage is being conducted in various Georgia counties by United States District Attorney Hooper Alexander. The federal grand jury will meet on April 4, and the government is preparing to lay cases before that body for consideration, as a result of discoveries made by department of justice agents in certain Georgia counties.

OPTIMISM IS NOTE STRUCK BY MARTIN AT BANKERS' MEET

Courtney Thorpe, Savannah Banker, Elected President Georgia Bankers' Association at Afternoon Session.

SOLONS TO BE ASKED FOR EDUCATION FUND

Bankers Plan Campaign of Advertising to Promote Business of Banks Throughout State.

Macon, Ga., March 24.—Optimism was the keynote of the annual address of H. Warner Martin, of Atlanta, president of the Georgia Bankers' association, delivered here today at the joint convention of the Georgia association and the Country Bankers' association.

At the final meeting this afternoon, resolutions were adopted calling upon the legislature to make an appropriation for the benefit of educational institutions. The resolutions were adopted calling for a campaign of advertising throughout the state for the benefit of the banks. Votes were cast favoring an expenditure of approximately $50,000 for this purpose.

Officers of the Georgia Bankers' association, of which Courtney Thorpe, a Savannah banker, was chosen president, were elected during the afternoon.

In his talk before the bankers, Mr. Martin expressed the opinion that readjustment of business conditions and upturn in the cotton situation will not require any great length of time. He urged banks to advertise in an effort to stimulate business during the latter part of the readjustment period.

"The present price of cotton," Mr. Martin said, "will deter many farmers from planting the staple this year, and this curtailment of acreage will serve naturally to keep prices from going lower, and indeed will do much to help the cotton situation."

Mr. Martin said, "I will deter many farmers from planting the staple this year, and this curtailment of acreage will serve naturally to keep prices from going lower, and indeed will do much to help the cotton situation."

Today's session followed executive conferences Wednesday night of both the Georgia Bankers' and the Country Bankers' associations, which elected officers for the year.

The sessions are made executive in order that the bankers may feel at liberty to discuss their problems more in detail than they might wish were the meetings open to the public. Present day banking conditions, as changed by the events of the past few years, are being laid before the bankers by the speakers, in order that the new problems may be met in the most effective manner. A feature of the meeting yesterday was the organization of a state-wide advertising campaign by the bankers to invite the opening of bank accounts.

Readjustment Needed. Mr. Martin said that bankers must face the fact that conditions today are not satisfactory, as the finances of the country have been subjected to a "severe and trying strain." He declared that return to normalcy could not come overnight. He said that as "readjustment is the order of the day, we must readjust our business policies. If we would survive the shock of untoward influences, which seem at times to be rampant, not only in this country, but all over the world, as the wars' aftermath."

Extravagance was excoriated in the address by Mr. Martin. "We have," he declared, "seen what it means for a people to be drunk with extravagance. Unfortunately," he continued, "the extravagance we have seen has not been confined to individuals, but it has also been

Chamber of Commerce Directors Indorse Boykin and City Council

Strong resolutions, indorsing the stand of Solicitor John A. Boykin, were passed Thursday afternoon by the board of directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, in the same session which unanimously passed resolutions commending the general council of Atlanta for its action in appointing an investigating committee to probe the charges against the detective department, as a measure of assuring the people of Atlanta the best service from this source available.

The resolutions indorsing Mr. Boykin follow:

Whereas, The Chamber of Commerce is intensely interested in the preservation of Atlanta's good name; and,

Whereas, Solicitor General Boykin in the conduct of his office has relentlessly pursued the band of crooks which was operating here, and as the result of his efforts has imprisoned this band of driven members from our city; and,

Whereas, The solicitor general, in public addresses, has fearlessly assailed the operations of this criminal band, and has made serious charges against the detective department of Atlanta of protecting these criminals; and,

Whereas, The solicitor general in his work is entitled to the support of every good man and woman in Atlanta and of every organization that is devoted to the advancement of Atlanta's interests; therefore, be it

Resolved, 1, That we commend the solicitor general for the fearless conduct of his office, and pledge him our active support in his every effort to make Atlanta clean and clear, and our co-operation in exposing and correcting abuses, inefficiency or dishonesty in office.

Resolution Commending City Council.

Whereas, There exists a most distressing situation in our city arising from the operation of criminals here, and of serious charges made by the solicitor general of this circuit to the effect that certain members of the detective department of this city were inefficient or in collusion with these criminals; and,

Whereas, These charges of the solicitor general have been noted by our city council, and the council has unanimously appointed a committee of its members to investigate these charges; and,

Whereas, This action of our council recognizes both the seriousness of these charges and the necessity of having the detective department clean and honest in its operations; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce unanimously commend the action of council in the appointment of this committee, and pledge to the city government our earnest co-operation in its effort to ascertain the truth as to the charges against this department, and to make it efficient in the discharge of its duties.

SAYS BOLSHEVISM IS LABOR'S ENEMY

Russ Labor Leader Arrives in U. S. With Message From Workers in Bolshevik-Ruled Land.

New York, March 24.—George B. Stroomillo, a Russian labor leader, who arrived in the United States this week and conferred yesterday with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, tonight issued a statement regarding present conditions in his country.

He quoted Gompers as saying that the Russian labor movement is now in a position to exercise its function to determine their term of government.

Stroomillo is a member of the board of trade unions of the district and county of Moscow, and was delegated by the trade unions of Ural to proceed to other countries for the purpose of warning labor against bolshevism principles.

Equipped with statistics concerning the destruction of Russia's industries, transport and agriculture under the bolshevist regime, he said he is prepared to show "that the conditions of the working men under the bolshevist dictatorship of the system of militarization of labor are even worse than those of the peasants. While the greater part of the Russian peasantry, spread over an immense territory, is out of reach of the bolshevist dictatorship and is able at least to live its own life, the Russian working class as a whole is the immediate sufferer under the bolshevist regime."

"As the result of the destruction of industries," said Mr. Stroomillo, "the Russian proletariat has shrunk to one-fifteenth of its former size. Freedom of the unions is abolished. The unions are established and work under the control of the soviet authorities and can act only in the way prescribed by the soviet authorities. Freedom of meetings and of speech is abolished. It is a crime to utter a word against the bolshevik. Strikes are declared counter-revolutionary acts. Workmen who go on strike are punished with

DOESN'T CONSIDER DARE OF CHAMBERS IN SERIOUS LIGHT

Proposal Merely Another Form of Smoke Screen to Becloud Issue, Declare Solicitor.

SEARCHING PROBE PROMISED BY SIMS

Committee Chairman Assures Impartial Action as to City Officials Implicated in Gaming Charges.

Efforts made by Aldine Chambers earlier in the day to have the United States department of justice take a hand in the investigation of the Atlanta crime situation was welcomed last night by Solicitor General Boykin.

"Understand," said the solicitor general, "that I do not take this proposal of Chambers seriously. I consider it merely another form of smoke screen he is using to becloud the issue. However, I would welcome an investigation of this whole affair by any impartial body, court, or organization. I am not so sure that Mr. Chambers would actually welcome it. I don't think he would propose it if he had any idea that the federal government would consent to such a proceeding."

Wants All Evidence. Every bit of evidence that will throw light on any phase of the police department-bunco syndicate scandal will be welcomed when the special committee of general council begins its investigations. This was the declaration made Thursday by Councilman Walter A. Sims, chairman of the committee.

If the scandal in all its ramifications reaches out and touches police commissioners, who supervise the police department, the police officers will be brought under the committee's searchlight. If it involves members of council, who elect police commissioners, testimony in that regard will be welcomed. Wherever the scandal touches the city government in this matter,"

Common Ground. On this one point both Solicitor General John A. Boykin, and Chief of Detectives Lamar Poole, principal figures in the maze of charges and counter charges brought about by the exposure of the operation of Floyd Woodward's bunco band, met on common ground.

Each declared he welcomed the issue. Mr. Boykin asserted that he will prove to the investigators that the detective department heads were either working in actual collusion with Woodward and his confederates or were guilty of the most gross incompetency.

On the other hand, Chief Poole, through Judge J. K. Hines, his counsel, announced that he was ready for the most searching investigation not only of his own conduct, but of the conduct of every man in his department.

Maze of Charges. In the maze of charges, counter charges and stirring incidents, which marked the day's progress of the confidence syndicate scandal, these facts stood out.

Aldine Chambers, former police commissioner, who is recognized as a leader in the political faction supporting the Poole administration of the detective department, made an effort to have a federal investigation of the Atlanta scandal. He wrote a four-page, typewritten communication to W. J. Neale, assistant attorney-general of the United States, outlining the Atlanta situation and urging an inquiry by the department of justice.

On the other hand, he got but cold encouragement from the Atlanta representatives of that department. He was told by Vincent Hughes, in charge of department of justice work in the southeastern division, that there was no method by which the department could interest itself in the Atlanta affair. He explained that postoffice inspectors had already begun an inquiry as to the operations of the bunco syndicate.

Room Overcrowded. The breakfast room of the Kimball house, where the ad men and their friends had gathered to hear the solicitor speak, was overcrowded by the hundreds who came to hear the solicitor one of the most enthusiastic ovations he has yet been accorded, both at the time when he rose to begin his address and when he had completed his exposure of alleged crookedness and graft.

In his address, the solicitor said that the protective committee, the bunco ring was not existing alone in Atlanta, but that in his efforts to apprehend the members of the gang, he was forced to secure federal assistance before he could get the authorities in Texas and other states to co-operate with him.

He repeated his defiance of Aldine Chambers to allow the same unduly

Prominent Citizens Were Investigating, Wilmer Tells Women

Publication of Statement Necessitated by Solicitor's Move—Dr. Jones, Dr. Durham, Jackson and Underwood Were Helping Him on Case, Says Wilmer.

FIRM STAND TAKEN BY WOMEN FOR CLEAN CITY GOVERNMENT

Twelve-Twenty Club and Ku Klux Assailed by Speaker—Chamber of Commerce and Ad Men Adopt Vote of Confidence in Solicitor-General Boykin.

Floyd Woodward mailed his famous communication from San Diego, Cal., on March 1. On its reception by Dr. C. E. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke Episcopal church, on March 6, it was turned over to a committee of four Atlantans, prominent in civic undertakings. Its subject matter was being investigated by them when Solicitor-General John A. Boykin forced its introduction to the Fulton county grand jury.

These were the revelations made Thursday afternoon by Dr. Wilmer before the citizenship committee of the Atlanta Woman's club.

The four Atlantans entrusted with the communication were the Rev. Ashby Jones and Dr. Plato Durham, prominent protestant divines, and Marion Jackson and Marvin Underwood, well known in civic reform movements. According to Dr. Wilmer, they recognized the seriousness of the charges, the character of the persons attacked and the reflection on the city contained therein, and were proceeding with their investigation in the most cautious manner in an effort to keep it entirely secret if the Woodward allegations proved to be false.

Other Developments. Other developments during the day were: Solicitor-General Boykin, announced that he would welcome an inquiry of the Atlanta situation by the federal department of justice as proposed by Aldine Chambers, though he characterized the proposal on Chambers' part as mere camouflage to becloud the issue.

He further declared that he would show all his accounts and give a detailed statement of the sources of all revenues received during the year, if Chambers would do the same.

The chamber of commerce passed resolutions commending council for ordering the police department investigation in the solicitor-general in his crusade.

Councilman Walter Sims, chairman of the council investigating committee, announced that his committee's inquiry would be widespread in its scope, that charges and counter charges would be followed through all their ramifications.

Mrs. Floyd Woodward appeared before the grand jury and emerged with a scene with the solicitor-general, in which she says the "lie" was passed.

Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, adopted

AD MEN STAMP THEIR APPROVAL ON BOYKIN'S WORK

After Spirited Address by the Solicitor, Gathering Votes Confidence and Offers Him Aid.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS ADD INDORSEMENT

Commend City Council for Its Action in Appointing an Investigating Committee.

While three hundred members of the Atlanta Advertising club, at noon Thursday, were fervently acclaiming their approval of Solicitor John A. Boykin's address before them, denouncing the bunco ring and its alleged alliance with city detectives and politicians, the directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce pleaded the solicitor every aid of that organization in "exposing and correcting abuses, inefficiency or dishonesty in office."

After the solicitor's spirited address before the ad men, the gathering, which had received him enthusiastically throughout his address, voted entire confidence in him and offered their aid in the pursuance of his plans to rid Atlanta of the corruption he charges.

The chamber of commerce also passed resolutions commending the city council for its action in appointing an investigating committee in an effort to ascertain the truth as to the charges against the detective department and to make it efficient in the discharge of its duties.

This action was taken at the session called by President Lee Ashcraft, of the chamber, to formulate their co-operation with Mr. Boykin.

Room Overcrowded. The breakfast room of the Kimball house, where the ad men and their friends had gathered to hear the solicitor speak, was overcrowded by the hundreds who came to hear the solicitor one of the most enthusiastic ovations he has yet been accorded, both at the time when he rose to begin his address and when he had completed his exposure of alleged crookedness and graft.

In his address, the solicitor said that the protective committee, the bunco ring was not existing alone in Atlanta, but that in his efforts to apprehend the members of the gang, he was forced to secure federal assistance before he could get the authorities in Texas and other states to co-operate with him.

U.S. SEEKS RELEASE OF TWO AMERICANS

Hughes Plans Steps to Aid Men Who Attempted to Kidnap Bergdoll in Germany.

Washington, March 24.—Secretary of State Hughes within a day or so will advise Secretary of War Weeks what should be done to obtain the release of two Americans from a German prison, and the custody of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll.

Bergdoll, wealthy draft dodger, is a fugitive in Germany. The two Americans, Frank Zimmer and Carl Norr, were sentenced to terms of imprisonment in a German court after they had made an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap Bergdoll and deliver him to American military authorities on the Rhine.

Secretary Weeks asked Hughes' advice, at the same time furnishing him with all information bearing on the affair. Weeks said he wanted information as to the international aspects, which are complicated by the fact that America and Germany technically are at war, and by the fact that no avenue of communication between the two governments exists.

Meantime, Major General Allen, commanding the American forces of occupation, is under instructions to do everything possible to obtain release of Zimmer and Norr, and delivery of Bergdoll. Representations already have been made to the German government through Allen, and these will be renewed. Previously, Germany replied that the central government could not interfere with judicial processes, and indicated the request for the liberation of Zimmer and Norr would be regarded favorably after the local court acted.

AD MEN APPROVE WORK OF BOYKIN

ing of income and expenditures to which the solicitor said he would gladly submit, and called the alleged Woodward letter “a tissue of lies from start to finish.” He assailed Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole as the “big potentate, high mogul and Turkish trophy” of the political ring, which was protecting the ring, and again referred to the alleged employment of Alding Chambers by a corporation here to keep quiet and “not meddle with their affairs.” He was paid for political non-interference, said the speaker.

Reviewing the charges made against him that he had accepted money from Floyd Woodward, the alleged head of the ringsters, for his campaign expenses, the solicitor said that the money was all his—that he had sold $2,000 worth of Fulton National bank stock, he had borrowed $800 on a Northwestern life insurance policy, that he had mortgaged his home for $1,500 to help pay his expenses.

Asks No Immunity.
“They're trying to damn me in the sight of the people for what I did for an attorney who they have brought into the case. He was sick for a long time and I helped him out, because he had worked for me and because I knew that his family and he needed the assistance I could give. Now they're trying to ring me in on whatever connection he has with the gang—if any at all. I am really doubtful if he had any connection, but if he did, I plead for no immunity for him.”

Characterizing the “springing” of the Woodward letter and the other allegations of his opponents as a smoke screen to hide the real issues, the solicitor said:

“Before my God I have never had in my pocket one dirty dollar of one copper cent, for that matter, that was dirty or ill-gotten. No crook or any one else has ever influenced me in the execution of my duty and they never will. I must have the reputation of the good people of Atlanta just as Captain Jim English and Arthur B. Connally had 40 years ago when they cleaned Atlanta of the gambling dens.”

Mr. Boykin declared that his was not a wholesale fight against the police department and said tribute to certain officers, L. E. Shumate, uniformed officer, was one of those he catalogued as a brave, true man, and he classified Detective Pat Campbell, and Sturdivant, his partner,

NEURO TO DIE FOR ATTACK ON CHURCH ORGANIST

New Brunswick, N. J., March 24.—George Washington Knight, 22, of Cliffwood, today was found guilty of first degree murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Edith Wilson, a church organist, who was attacked near her home at Perth Amboy March 12. Knight was sentenced to die during the week of May 2.

The jury returned its verdict in 15 minutes. Mrs. Wilson's body, bearing marks of a brutal attack, was found on the night of March 12 in a vacant lot near her home. It was raining and an umbrella had been opened and set over her. Knight was arrested the next day and made a confession which his attorney said was extorted from him.

It is presumed that the terrier which bit out a piece of the turner of a gentleman's trousers the other day was Scotch. It made a dash for the south of the Tweed.

“When I go before the committee appointed by council to probe the affair,” he said, “I will have the evidence to prove that the detective department was either in connivance and collusion with these men or that they are absolutely inept. That is all I can be asked to do.”

He “Looked Out for It.”
“D. D. Shaw was notified that he was being fitted out for a game joint long before it got into operation,” he told his informant that he would look out for it. He did, all right. He looked out for it so well that it operated with these slightest molestation until Officer Shumate, a bicycle policeman, caught him. You heard how all that ended, with the influence of Lamar Poole reducing the salaries of three operators and 25 gamblers to $26 each, on parity, so that not one of them showed up when the cases were called.

“There was one man, by the way, who showed up. He was the only one who was given a copy of charges. He was a young Atlanta attorney who would admit even now that he has a passion for dice games. When he asked for a copy of charges and asked the officers to lead the officers to these men.”

“When they heard this, they immediately got more police than dancing master and allowed him to go free on a copy of charges. When the cases were called the next morning and he answered to his name—the only one out of the whole gang to answer to his name—the question: ‘What are you doing here? Didn't you know everybody had forfeited?’

Turned Over to Police.
He also said that the gambling paraphernalia was returned to the officers. “I was in the house,” and all the money taken in the raid except some which was stolen after it was turned in at the police station.”

Mr. Boykin regaled his hearers with one incident which brought roars of laughter:

“One man told the grand jury,” he said, “that while he was in a game at Woodward's Central avenue place, Woodward came to him and told him that the light on his (the man's) automobile was out in front of the place was out and light it if he didn't want to be arrested.”

The man asked Woodward how he knew, and Woodward said that an officer had just told him. So the man went down and lit the tail light and then returned to the crap game.”

Mr. Boykin was introduced to the gathering by R. C. Broyles as “a plain old Georgia boy, as honest as the day is long.”

NEGRO TO DIE
FOR ATTACK ON CHURCH ORGANIST

New Brunswick, N. J., March 24.—George Washington Knight, 22, of Cliffwood, today was found guilty of first degree murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Edith Wilson, a church organist, who was attacked near her home at Perth Amboy March 12. Knight was sentenced to die during the week of May 2.

The jury returned its verdict in 15 minutes. Mrs. Wilson's body, bearing marks of a brutal attack, was found on the night of March 12 in a vacant lot near her home. It was raining and an umbrella had been opened and set over her. Knight was arrested the next day and made a confession which his attorney said was extorted from him.

It is presumed that the terrier which bit out a piece of the turner of a gentleman's trousers the other day was Scotch. It made a dash for the south of the Tweed.

Mr. Boykin was introduced to the gathering by R. C. Broyles as “a plain old Georgia boy, as honest as the day is long.”

detectives started paying us pop calls. The first time they came they had a lot of trouble getting in. You see, it was summer time, and all the doors and windows were open. They didn't find anything but us; but they took us down, all eight of us. Twenty-six dollars apiece was what their visit cost us. We put that up as collateral and naturally never appeared to answer the charges—whatever they were.

“Well, they came around again, I think, the very next day. Our doors were still open, but there wasn't any ‘welcome’ sign on the mat. Maybe that's what made the detectives mad. Anyhow, they came in without knocking. This time there were only six of us to answer the roll call. Twenty-six dollars more apiece.

Got on Nerves.
“We hadn't been caught doing anything. We hadn't been doing anything, but these pop calls got on our nerves. We called in Joe Ewing as our attorney and sent him to see what could be done about it. Joe came back and said that Chief Poole had promised him that if we'd move away from Houston street and break up, he'd nolle pro. all the cases against us.

“We got that word Saturday afternoon and were fixing to move out Monday morning. For a sort of farewell celebration in the old homestead we ordered a planked steak for supper. Somebody had a pint, and I was just about to take an appetizer, when a detective took it out of my hands. We all (there weren't but three of us left) took another ride, and when we got back the steak was cold. Naturally they made the bonds $1,000 apiece. The chief said we had promised to move right out and hadn't obeyed instructions.

Didn't Stop Sleuths.
“Anyhow, we called Ewing again and the chief said again he'd move out if we'd move. We moved and the chief let us off—with a fine of $100 each.

“But that didn't stop the detectives from paying the old place visits. We locked all the doors when we moved, but every evening for two weeks the detectives would tiptoe up to the house and peep through the windows. We'd be standing across the street watching them look at nothing.”

“And all this time Woodward was running,” I asked.
“How do I know? I wasn't going around there. Woodward says he was.”

How about this business of your giving hush money to Garrison that he told of in his affidavit? I asked.
“Shot.”

A Long Story.
“That's a long story,” he began. “As far as I know, Garrison never played in any game in the Houston street house. At the time he tells of in his affidavit I was in Wesley Memorial hospital and I have doctor's certificates to prove it.”

“A little while after I got out of the hospital a crowd of us were in the backyard on Houston street pitching to the line for dollars. We had a lot of gambling paraphernalia there—a line and some iron dollars. Garrison came in the back way from the Rex saloon and horned into the game. He lost some money—I don't know how much—but he came to me squalling afterwards and said he'd lost the money with which he was to meet a bum check he had given and asked me to lend him $100.”

“I finally consented, as I knew he owned a drug store and I could get it back. I told him I'd lend him the hundred if he'd give me a sixty-day note. He took the money and “Did Boykin's name figure at all in the transaction?” I asked.

“Nobody ever mentioned Boykin,” said “Shot.”

“Did Chief Poole's name figure?” “Nobody ever mentioned Chief Poole,” said Mr. Marks.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF FIVE IS TRIED*Edmund Bigham Faces Jury on the Charge of Killing Five in South Carolina.

Florence, S. C., March 24.—Edmund Bigham, who went on trial here today, charged with the murder of his mother, brother, sister and two of the latter's adopted children, not only suggested that search be made for the body of his brother, which was not found until some time after the other four bodies were discovered, but indicated in a general way where the searchers should look for it, according to testimony brought by the prosecution.

When the four bodies were first discovered at the Bigham home near here, in January, and L. Smiley Bigham was found to be missing, it was supposed he had killed the other members of his family and fled. Witnesses for the prosecution declared today that Edmund Bigham, on arriving at the home, suggested search for his brother's body, and one went as far as to say he indicated the general direction that should be taken. On cross-examination the defense made the witness admit that he "believed" Edmund Bigham to be guilty. The killings are said to have grown out of family financial troubles.

The greater part of the first day was taken up in selection of a jury which, as chosen, is composed of farmers, merchants and railroad employees. The defense to its line of cross-examination, indicated its contention would be that Smiley Bigham actually did the killing, as first taken for granted by county officials, and many questions were asked witnesses to bring light to bear on points appearing to suggest this.

Mrs. Edmund Bigham was not in court today and A. L. King, of counsel for the defense, obtained a court order for her presence tomorrow, pleading that members of her family at Greenville, S. C., were keeping her away to prevent her from testifying in her husband's behalf. Later it was announced she had missed a train and would be here tomorrow.

Mrs. Bigham was recently arrested, charged with slipping a drug to her husband in jail, and since her release has been in Greenville.

"DAGO JOE" RELEASED IN MURDER MYSTERY

Warsaw, Ind., March 24.—John Invagnola, of Elkhart, known as "Dago Joe," who was being held in connection with the death near here of Leroy Lovett, was released from custody today following his testimony before the county grand jury, which began its investigation of the case today.

Virgil Decker, who is being held, charged with the murder of Lovett, made a statement several days ago, charging Invagnola with having committed the crime. Last night he made another statement, exonerating Invagnola of all connection with the slaying of Lovett.

The grand jury investigation is being held behind closed doors, and with the exception of the announcement that Invagnola had been released, nothing else regarding the investigation was given out. It is expected the grand jury will be in session several days before it completes the inquiry.

brutality unheard of in western countries. Strikers are not only imprisoned, but deprived of their rights. Almost all branches of industry are under martial law. Workers cannot change from one factory or occupation to another. They are forcibly enlisted into the "labor armies" and overtime is compulsory.

Revolution Spreading.

"The pitiful condition which bolshevism has brought Russia resulted in the upheaval against the bolshevist tyranny, which we witnessed recently in the very heart of Russia, in Kronstadt, Petrograd and Moscow. Once the bolshevist tyrants have succeeded in drowning in blood the revolt of the Russian people against them. But the revolution against the bolshevist power is not confined to Kronstadt, Petrograd and Moscow alone. It is spreading all over Russia. What we witness today is only a temporary victory of bolshevism in the center of Russia. As the result, the bolshevist regime may last a few months longer, but its end is well at hand.

"The Russian working class shares the gratitude which all the Russian people feel toward the people and the government of the United States for their policy of unselfish friendship toward Russia. The Russian people will never forget the American uncompromising policy toward bolshevism and the American endeavor to safeguard the territorial integrity of Russia, against the policy of dismemberment pursued unfortunately by some of Russia's former allies."

Upholds Hoover.

The statement by Secretary Hoover declaring that the trade treaty concluded by the bolsheviks with Great Britain is not a trade treaty at all, but pure political move on the part of both the bolsheviks and the government of Great Britain was praised by Mr. Stroomillo. He declared Mr. Hoover correct in announcing that the re-establishment of normal trade intercourse with Russia is impossible until Russia is re-established as a producing country. This will be impossible, until the bolshevik regime is overthrown and political and economic conditions are established in Russia.

NEGRO IS ACQUITTED OF HOMICIDE CHARGE

Savannah, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Edward Quarterman, colored, tried in the superior court, charged with homicide, the killing by hitting with an automobile—of the 5-year-old son of Lieutenant M. G. Cohen last May, was found "not guilty" in the superior court here.

may be made when the investigation is concluded. Debs came here without guard and so returns to Atlanta. Colonel Gott, assistant to the attorney-general, was present during the inquiries.

Debs' visit was unheralded. He came and went unrecognized, and newspaper men and others were unaware that he had been here until Daugherty told them. Debs was sentenced to a ten-year term in 1918, on a charge of obstructing the trying on of the war.

WARDEN ZERBST WITHHOLDS COMMENT.

Attempts to secure information regarding the departure of Debs for Washington from the warden of the United States penitentiary Thursday were without success. The warden asserting that he had nothing official to give out on the matter, and refusing to admit that Debs was out of prison.

Samuel M. Castleton, the personal attorney for Debs, was himself without information concerning the sudden departure of his client for Washington, and declared both on Wednesday evening and Thursday that the movements of Debs were shrouded in the most impenetrable secrecy so far as the knowledge of his attorney and friends are concerned.

The information that Debs had left the Atlanta prison gained currency Wednesday afternoon through a prison attaché, but efforts to secure a definite statement from that person Wednesday night were without success.

Since his arrival in the Atlanta prison, Debs has been looked upon by the prison officials as a model prisoner, being deprived of his privileges but once since his incarceration. This punishment came following a criticism of Woodrow Wilson, then president, who had turned down the plea of clemency for Debs.

Convicted in 1918, Debs, having been convicted in 1918 for obstructing the draft, was first sentenced to serve in the prison at Moundsville, W. Va. There he was sent to begin his ten-year term on April 13, 1918, but was shortly transferred to Atlanta. Debs himself took but little part in efforts to secure his freedom, and though he conducted his fourth campaign for president of the United States on the socialistic platform from behind the prison walls, he has made but few complaints concerning his detention.

You are paying for the best---why not insist upon getting it? Cornfield Hams and Bacon are the best, and more than 150 representative Atlanta grocers will have complete stocks for your Easter Breakfast.

All leading Atlanta hotels, clubs and cafes will feature Cornfield Products Easter, and in the Atlanta homes where quality is considered an essential the reliable Cornfield brand will predominate.

Cornfield Hams are from selected young hogs, are not skinned. They come to you in the original THIN SKIN. There is a wonderful difference between them and the hams with which the Atlanta market is flooded that have come from very heavy, coarse-grained hogs and then skinned to confuse the purchaser as to the age and size of the hog from which they came.

If your grocer offers a substitute for Cornfield products, telephone the White Provision Company, Ivy 5771, and the name of a grocer near you who will supply you will be given.

Mrs. Woodward Attacks Boykin for Alleged Treatment Before Jury

Mrs. Floyd P. Woodward, wife of the leader of the gambling syndicate, the operations of which have been revealed by Solicitor John A. Boykin. This is the first picture of Mrs. Woodward that has been published.

BY MARION KENDRICK. There was nothing dramatic about her conversation. It was so normal that her voice reached above the normal. Only when she spoke of Solicitor Boykin, whom she characterized as "the vilest-mouthed creature I have ever had speak to me," and The Atlanta Constitution, did she show any excitement.

Then her blue-gray eyes flashed, and her voice was filled with anger. She gripped the chair to keep from rising to her feet.

"I know from what I have heard that Clark Howell is behind all this investigation. Boykin is making The Constitution is supporting him in his campaign," she declared. They want another set of city officials, and John Boykin is being shielded.

Boykin wants to be governor, but before this investigation is over he'll be in stripes. All I want is fair play—I am only human. Floyd has admitted his guilt in some of the transactions, but the very men who are now cleaning up the bunco gang are just as guilty.

"And I have been styled as the 'Queen of the Wire-Tappers,' she laughed. "I have been called the 'likeliest' woman crook in the south; the 'come-on' girl of the gang."

"Do I look like a crook?" No man who has any respect for his wife will let her be a gambler even if he is one himself. Whoever said others just as guilty, are allowed to remain free." These were the words of Mrs. Floyd P. Woodward, as she sat in her small flat at No. 5-B Angier avenue Thursday evening and discussed happenings of the day and memories of her married life with the gangster, whose alleged confession, in the possession of Chief of Police Beavers, was forced before the grand jury Tuesday by Solicitor John A. Boykin.

The pretty little wife of the chief of the bunco gang was not in tears as she gave out her interview, but there was a winsome smile on her face. Even while she was describing the attitude the people living near her had assumed since the solicitor started his investigation, not a frown appeared.

"You know, when we first moved here every one was so nice. They spoke to us and treated me courteously, but since this has all happened, no one greets me, and I live in a little world by myself," she hesitated.

"Some times I get lonesome. I miss my husband. It's just a little dreary being here all alone, with the exception of these puppies," pointing to two bull pups playing at her feet. "But, about the attitude of the neighbors, that doesn't matter so much to me, rather to be expected, and I know everything will come out all right in the end."

Reductions of One-Fourth

WE HAVE tried hard to please the women of Atlanta this season. We have searched far and wide for correct expressions of the mode in hats, we have eliminated the usual additional price to be charged because a hat was designed by some famous Millinery Artist or style creator. And it seems that you have all appreciated our efforts. At any rate you have given us a splendid, wonderful Spring business.

As a mark of appreciation we are announcing TWO DAYS BEFORE EASTER, not the day after, REDUCTIONS OF ONE-FOURTH ON EVERY HAT IN OUR MILLINERY SECTION.

This does not simply include the hats which are here today, but it also includes the HATS which will arrive today, and the HATS which will arrive tomorrow.

As fast as they come in they will be marked the regular price, but as you purchase, one-fourth of that price will be deducted.

This is not a SALE in the accepted sense of the word. We have made no effort to get HATS that we might sell at a lesser price. The fact is our business justifies us GIVING YOU SOMETHING EXCEPTIONAL IN VALUE AT A TIME WHEN YOU WILL MOST APPRECIATE IT, and it is a real joy for us to make this announcement.

When you come to choose do not ask for the Hats on sale. There are none; simply take your choice of any HAT you see and want. We will deduct ONE-FOURTH FROM THE MARKED PRICE.

This offering will only last for TODAY AND SATURDAY.

MAIL POUCHES RIFLED
IN TEXAS HOLDUP

Denton, Texas, March 24.—Two masked men late last night held up a postoffice messenger while he was on his way from a railroad station to the postoffice here with a quantity of mail and forced him to accompany them to the outskirts of the city where they bound him and rifled several pouches containing registered mail. A report of the robbery was telephoned to police headquarters by the messenger who stated he extracted himself with the aid of a pocket knife.

Postoffice officials declined to make public the amount of loot obtained. Two suspects were reported under arrest at Durant, Okla.

Cardinal Gibbons Dies
At Age of Eighty-Seven

Aged American Prelate Passes to Reward in Quiet Peace on Thursday Morning.

Baltimore, March 24.—James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore and primate of the American Catholic hierarchy, died at the arch-episcopal residence here today after a prolonged illness which mainly affected his heart. He was in his 87th year.

The end came peacefully at 11:35 o'clock.

Cardinal Gibbons, who had been showing pronounced signs of improvement in health ever since his return home about January 1 last, from Union Mills, Md., where he was taken seriously ill early in December, suffered a relapse Sunday evening soon after returning from an automobile ride. The sudden change of weather, which brought unseasonably high temperature, had a depressing effect on him. His fainting spells returned and when he was put to bed it was realized by those closest to him he probably never again would arise.

Cardinal Gibbons' physicians said repeatedly in the earlier stages of his illness that he was sound, organically, as could be expected in a person of his years, but that he suffered from the effects of his age and from fatigue that resulted from the prodigious expenditure of his energies in the performance of his duties as senior prelate of the Catholic church in this country.

Enjoyed Good Health.

Although not of robust build the cardinal enjoyed remarkably good health and his close associates often marvelled at his capacity for work, his tireless industry and recuperative powers. But about six months ago a change began to be noticeable, and other signs indicative of failing health appeared. As a member of his household expressed it, "His eminence seemed to grow old suddenly."

Nevertheless the cardinal continued his unusual daily routine, interrupted only by visits away from home to functions, the most notable of these being the Pan-American congress at Washington on Thanksgiving day. He was suffering from a cold, but apparently felt no ill effects from the trip and a short time afterwards went to Emmitsburg, Md., to participate in a religious celebration, where he again exhibited symptoms of weakness. Then, in pursuance of a plan for a rest, the cardinal went to the home of his life-long friends, the Shivers, at Union Mills, Carroll county, where he had spent many of his holidays, particularly his birthdays.

Instead of staying there only a few days, as he had originally intended, it was a full month before his medical advisers deemed it prudent to permit the journey home. Twice during his stay at Union Mills he collapsed and so grave was the crisis that the last sacraments were administered during the first spell.

Frequent Seizures.

The attacks of weakness which first brought realization to the cardinal's household that he was aging rapidly began with a cold. While preaching at Havre de Grace on Sunday, last November 6, after having confirmed 150 children, he suddenly became faint but was able to continue his discourse in a few moments. These seizures became more frequent as time went on and usually followed some over-exertion in the line of his diocesan duties.

Beside the cardinal's bed stood every member of his household, and when it was seen that the distinguished prelate had passed away the priests fell to their knees and began reciting the prayers for the dead.

Funeral on Thursday.

In the presence of the greatest assemblage of Roman Catholic dignitaries ever held in America, James Cardinal Gibbons will be laid to rest next Thursday in the crypt under the sanctuary of the Baltimore cathedral. The red hat of Cardinal Gibbons, symbolical of the office of the man who was the second American cardinal, will be hung on the throne above the altar, there to remain as long as the edifice itself stands. The cardinal's last resting place will be just opposite and only a short step away from the tomb of Archbishop John Carroll, the first American bishop, and the man who selected the site of the cathedral and laid the cornerstone in 1806.

Following the death of Cardinal Gibbons Thursday it was arranged to have the body lie in state in the cathedral until 10 o'clock next Thursday morning when a requiem high mass will be celebrated by Monsignor Bonzano, representing Pope Benedict. The funeral sermon will be preached by Archbishop John Clennon, of St. Louis, who preached the sermon from the same altar at the cathedral's centenary celebration in 1906 and who also attended the golden jubilee of Cardinal Gibbons in the Catholic university at Washington in 1909, when the cardinal received a purse of $50,000.

Masses to Be Sung.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday masses in commemoration of the cardinal's career will be sung, the first for children, the Tuesday mass for the religious orders, and that of Wednesday for the laity. The Right Reverend O. S. Corrigan, auxiliary bishop, will celebrate the Wednesday mass.

All these ceremonies will work up to a solemn but beautifully picturesque climax in the requiem high mass of Thursday. In the procession there will be practically all of the priests in the diocese of Baltimore, monsignori, abbots and members of various orders in cassocks of brown or black or white. It will be led by the apostolic delegate and Cardinal O'Connell. The route will be quite short, only from the cardinal's residence to the cathedral, which stands in the same square. After the procession has entered the church there will be a service more impressive in its solemnity, more elaborate in its ceremonial pomp than any ever held before in America, in the same building where the cardinal on hundreds of occasions preached to the thousands of members of his faith in Baltimore who had come to know him at least by sight and the sound of his voice, if not personally.

"The fire spread rapidly, but was got under just as it reached the stocking department." It must have been put out by the sight of the hose.

Cardinal Gibbons had been unconscious for the last 24 hours. A slight hope was raised among his friends and associates last evening when his pulse grew stronger, that death might be deferred, but this rally was only temporary and was merely an evidence of the cardinal's remarkable vitality.

He was perceptibly weaker this morning and it was then realized that he would not live the day out.

Touching incident in connection with the last hours of the cardinal was the bestowal of the Pope's benediction upon him which had just been received by cable from Rome. The city hall bell was tolled in respect to the cardinal's memory when word of his death was sent to Mayor Broening.

Washington Mourns

Cardinal's Death.

Washington, March 24.—News of the death of Cardinal Gibbons was received in Washington today with universal sadness. Officials from President Harding down expressed sorrow at the death of the primate of American Catholic hierarchy and paid tribute to him.

The president, in a message to the Rev. Owen B. Corrigan, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, said that the death of the cardinal was a distinct loss to the country. Vice President Coolidge praised the cardinal's scholarship, patriotism and devout piety. Secretary Weeks characterized the cardinal's death as "an irreparable loss to his church and his country."

Dr. L. S. Rowe, director-general of the Pan-American Union, added that the death of the cardinal also was "an irreparable loss to all the republics of the American continent."

Harding Message.

"In common with all our people I mourn the death of Cardinal Gibbons," President Harding's message said. "His long and notable service to country and to church, makes us all his debtors. He was ever ready to lend his encouragement to any movement for the betterment of his fellow man. He was the very finest type of citizen and churchman."

Do You Know This?

THOMAS A. EDISON spent three million dollars to develop a reproducing instrument which would give perfect music of all kinds, and which, through its supreme realism, could confer upon every home the incalculable benefits of pure and good music exactly as rendered by the world's best artists.

Duplicates of this original three-million-dollar instrument are now on sale at $295.00. These instruments are known as Official Laboratory Models.

Many people seem to believe that Mr. Edison's great invention can be obtained only in the Official Laboratory Model. We are therefore glad to be able to announce that there is a skillful adaptation of the Official Laboratory Model, encased in a charming Heppelwhite cabinet, which can be purchased for:

$167.50

A Real Edison

We have no hesitation in stating that this Heppelwhite model of the New Edison is vastly superior to any and all talking machines at any and all prices. We are prepared to submit the Heppelwhite to scientific comparison for proof of our assertion—you and your friends to be the judges.

Hundreds of thousands of people believe that $295 is not too much to pay for the Official Laboratory Model, which embodies all of Mr. Edison's three-million dollar research. Many others pay more than $295 for it in special French and Italian cases, or inlaid and hand-decorated English cabinets. However, there may be some who are not yet ready to purchase the Official Laboratory Model. To them, we say: Don't delay, don't deny yourself the pleasure and benefits of Mr. Edison's research work. Buy a Heppelwhite now, and later trade it in on an Official Laboratory Model.

SPECIAL OFFER

We have set aside a limited number of these charming Heppelwhite. We shall be glad to prove to your satisfaction that they are far superior to any talking machine at any price. Take one of these beautiful Heppelwhite at $167.50 with the understanding that at any time within one year from the date of purchase you can, if you desire to do so, return the Heppelwhite and receive credit on the purchase of an Official Laboratory Model, for the full amount paid by you for your Heppelwhite. There are absolutely no strings on this special offer. It is a part of our co-operation with Mr. Edison to put real music in every home, particularly those homes where there are young people whose natures are now molding, and who, above all others, require the improving and ennobling influence of the wonderful music which Edison has placed within the reach of everyone.

We are able to make this special offer because there will be no reduction in the prices of Edison instruments. Edison has raised his prices less than 14 per cent since 1914. Don't wait. Come before this special allotment of Heppelwhite is gone. Come at once. A gentleman's agreement as to the terms of payment can be made by any man or woman who loves music.

HEPPELWHITE

Described by Miss Elsie de Wolfe as "characteristically distinctive and graceful Heppelwhite," designed with particular reference to the requirements of city apartment dwellers, but perfectly appropriate to the largest mansions. Gracia reproduces Heppelwhite's historic "Prince of Wales Feathers," with a treatment which gives the feeling of time-worn hand-carvings. Genuine mahogany or genuine quarter-sawn oak.

RAIL LABOR UNIONS ATTACKED BY BROWN

Wage Demands Like Cancer
on Transportation Systems, Says Former Governor.

Ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown
has written the following communication to the labor union:

The Constitution submitted the communication to W. C. Carraway, president of the Federation of Trades, with the request for statement in reply, to be published
with the statement from Governor Brown.

Mr. Carraway returns the communication to the labor union with the following statement:

"I thank the Constitution for the fairness which has been shown in giving us the privilege of an open meeting to discuss the matter along with its appearance.

"I have, however, taken the matter up with the officials of the federation, both state and local, and after a conference, we have decided that it is best to stand by our general attitude and let ex-Governor Brown occupy the stage
all by himself in his attacks on union labor. We decline to enter into any controversy with him."

Governor Brown's statement:

"Editor Constitution: The labor union cancer, that is what organized labor is now proving itself to be in Georgia. In the years it has been making itself
often by high-handed and brutal methods, a self-imposed, preferred
creditor in collecting a burdensome
onus from the income of the masses of the people. For years it has been embodying within itself all the elements of a trust, and such
in effect, it was adjudged in a recent decision by the supreme court of the United States. For years it has been working, coercing
and fighting to make itself a monopoly, and it is now in a position aggressively doing in striving to enforce for itself 'closed shop', whereby all other laborers would
be excluded from competition with it.

"Of course I shall pay no attention to this letter. I am not going to let or anything else stop me from doing my duty to my client, no matter how far I have to go or who is to be afflicted.

"This is not the first threat I have received since I took Thomas' case.
On the night of March 15 the telephone in my office rang and a voice
on the other end warned me to keep away from investigating and a voice
order or a certain man who is now under suspicion in connection with the Lakewood tragedy. Before I could ask who was talking, there came a buzzing on the wire, and I
Mr. Leavitt was preparing Thursday afternoon to enter habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of his client on the ground that he killed Thompson in self-defense.

"What which any intelligent person
might have expected to have happened, viz: the above named railroads have not been able to earn revenue enough to pay their operating expenses, of which the extraordinary wages of employees
were the preponderating factor.

"In all cases, the employees, almost all of whom are members of,
or controlled by, organized labor,
refused to agree for their wages
to be reduced to such figures as would allow the railroads to be operated.
The first publicly-known development was that the Georgia Coast and Piedmont railroad was sold, and the purchasers, knowing that they could not afford to operate it, declined to take it over. It was then sold to the Georgia Railway and Power company, which is now in stock and also taking up the tracks and selling the steel rail, cross-ties, etc. Thus about seven miles of an operating railroad were literally eaten off of the face of the state by the labor union cancer.
And there with three counties,
with population aggregating more than 300,000 people, and either entirely robbed of railroad transportation power.

Could we pay wages.

"Citizens of Tattall and Liberty counties endeavored to save the upper 40 miles of this railroad for their use, but have been unable to pay the relentlessly-demanded
wages, hence this cancer is now almost in the act of eating their transportation facilities off the face of the state, leaving them, too, in the woods.

"The same fate is in store for each of the railroads I have named above, if they be not released from paying the standardized wage which
this labor union cancer declares it will have, even though in the process of having them it destroys every railroad in Georgia, leaving the state dependent on its roads for the conduct of its transportation.

"This labor union cancer blindly and unthinkingly will exact these unheard-of wages, whether the roads can pay them or not, and intolerantly adds that the question of what a road can pay is immaterial
with the determination of what constitutes a fair wage for it to pay its employees. I say blindly, because it is destroying the source of its own income, and I say unthinkingly, because it is doing an inexcusable wrong
when, for its own selfish temporary gain, it callously inflicts an irreparable, permanent damage upon thousands of worthy and useful people of our state.

"But this labor union cancer tells us that if it surrenders its usurped
power to let the life out of the railroads of Georgia, it will have to make a big surrender in other states, and that hence Georgia's railroads must be sacrificed on the altar of its greed. Could Georgia and the United States have a more convincing object lesson proving the necessity for state and national laws ordaining the 'open shop'?

"Now, bear in mind just here that before labor unionism fastened its stifling clutch on the economic and transportation systems of our country, the United States, working in the open shop, were the marvel of the world in railroad development,
thousands of miles per annum being oftentimes built. And with the building of railroads came the settling of farmers, the opening of mines, the building of factories, new cities,
new states.

"Labor unionism has forced a transformation scene. Instead of further conquering the wilderness,
instead of bringing other fertile
fields in contact with the energy of the brains of our country, has it spend itself in protecting the exactions of 'capitalists'. To this pretended aim, by connivance
with vote-seeking politicians, it
enormously raised the wages of two million railroad employees, and
caused the railroad rates to be raised on a hundred million people
constituting the general public, the
said increase in rates being for the
avowed purpose of paying these unprecedentedly high wages to the railroad employees. Like increases
in wages caused the price of coal
to be enormously increased, so we
were run the gamut of everything
touching by labor unionism. And all
these wage increases were asserted
and defended to meet conditions
imposed by the war."

"And, as we see in Georgia, that enemy (cancer) that is now eating its way into the heart of the state, what was once unthinkable is now a reality. The railroad rates, out of existence, leaving some thriving towns in the wilderness, turning the clock of progress back to the primeval days. It constantly de-clains against 'reaction', yet here
we see it, in Georgia, enforcing 'reaction' in its most deadly form.

Increase in Prices.

"And this enemy, commingling hypocrisy with greed and cowardice, asserts that its fight is for human rights; that it is striving for the rights of the laborer against the exactions of 'capitalists'. To this pretended aim, by connivance
with vote-seeking politicians, it
enormously raised the wages of two
million railroad employees, and
caused the railroad rates to be
raised on a hundred million people
constituting the general public, the
said increase in rates being for the
avowed purpose of paying these un-
precedentedly high wages to the railroad employees. Like increases
in wages caused the price of coal
to be enormously increased, so we
were run the gamut of everything
touching by labor unionism. And all
these wage increases were asserted
and defended to meet conditions
imposed by the war."

"Now, that the war is over, price
of cotton has fallen from 25 cents to less than 15 cents; rice, from 15

EXPLAINS POSITION OF A. B. & A. CREDITOR

Attorney Arnold Consumes Entire Time Allotted
to Hearing.

Presenting the side of the Birmingham Trust and Savings company in the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railway wage case Thursday, Reuben E. Arnold, attorney for the Birmingham banking concern,
consumed the entire time allotted
to the hearing of the case by Judge
Samuel H. Sibley, in United States district court.

Mr. Arnold appeared for the banking concern, a creditor of the road,
which caused the appointment of a receiver through filing of a petition several weeks ago alleging that the railroad was unable to meet its obligations and that a receiver
should be appointed in order to save
the line from being junked.

The speaker addressed the court
upon a petition filed by the fourteen railroad brotherhoods, which prayed the court for a revocation
of an order handed down by Judge Sibley authorizing Colonel B. L.
Bugs, receiver, to reduce the wages of the men by 50 per cent of the increase that have been given them since the year 1917. It was this reduction, it was claimed, by the union men, that caused the strike
now being waged by the employees
on that line.

The receiver and railroad officials
had been cited by the court to appear and answer the brotherhood petition, and show cause why the plea
for a revocation of the wage reduction order should not be made.

Representing the creditor of the road, Mr. Arnold, of the firm of Arnold & Arnold, presented the financial condition of the road. He declared that figures have been shown by the receiver and the railroad officials establishing the fact that the
A. B. & A. had been losing money steadily since the year 1917. Interesting was the mounting deficit
over the operation of the line in 1918, and that this deficit came to a climax during January of this year, when losses mounted to the sum of $128,000.

The company has been losing without a let-up," declared the attorney, "and it was taken over by the government, these losses mounting with steady regularity as the time went on. There seemed to be no relief from the mounting deficit except through a reduction of wages, and the receiver has been increasing the wages of the railroad
labor board."

Relative Wages.

Mr. Arnold showed the relative wages paid employees of the railroad and employees of other industries and declared that the burden imposed upon the road by exceedingly high wages was too great for the struggling line to bear.

"It came to a question of either reducing wages or stopping service
altogether. It was an important question of thousands of people who depend upon it for railroad transportation, and the receiver has been struggling to meet it."

When Mr. Arnold concluded his argument the hearing adjourned. He will be followed this afternoon by Colonel William Schley Howard, of the firm of Branch & Howard, attorneys for the fourteen brother-hoods.

United States District Attorney
Hooper Alexander will follow Mr.
Howard with his intervention in behalf of the government in the matter of the constitutionality of section 9 of the Newlands act,
which has been questioned by the railroad attorneys.

It is expected that the hearing
will be concluded until the end of the week.

No Clew In Attempt.

Although there were reports Wednesday of another attempt to wreck
of the A. B. & A. at Thalmann, Ga., nothing definite as to whether or not the attempt was successful has been obtained. It is understood,
however, that a determined effort
is being made to secure evidence against the alleged train wreckers,
and it is believed that a severe punishment will be meted if they are apprehended.

Receiver Bugh has received orders
from the United States court to use every possible means of protecting the railroad under his receivership
and to make operation of the road safe for patrons, and the power of the court, which is unlimited, it is declared, is back of Colonel Bugh
in whatever efforts he may make
to protect the property of the company.

Reports have been issued showing that service on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic has steady-ly improved each day as men are being returned to the road in numbers to man engines and run freight and passenger trains. The management of the road has virtually promised a well-nigh normal service within the next few days.

No statement has been given out by brotherhood leaders with reference to the attempted wrecks on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, but former statements have been made that every striker has been cautioned against any kind of lawlessness or violence and brotherhood leaders declare that any attempted wrecks cannot be charged to striking employees.

TWO MEN ARRESTED FOR OFFER TO SELL DRUG TO OFFICERS

A. L. Robinson, of 95 Whitehall terrace, and A. W. Barfield, son of City Policeman J. W. Barfield, are held in Fulton tower in default of $3,000 bond each following their arrest early Thursday night by federal agents as a result of an alleged offer of the two men to sell the officers a large supply of narcotics.
Cocaine valued at $5,000 was taken from the prisoners, according to the officers.

According to testimony of the officers at a preliminary hearing before Commissioner W. C. Carter, the officers met the pair early in the day at the Piedmont hotel,
where they are said to have engaged a room, and made arrangements with them to buy $1,000
worth of narcotics.

They went to Robinson's residence, it was stated, where the officers remained with Robinson while Barfield went for the drugs. He is said to have returned after being gone only a few minutes, with the cocaine in his possession, and the two were placed under arrest.
Officers participating in the case
were E. Miller, W. T. Druitt, Harry Sapphirer, Y. T. Allen
and Jerry Alexander.

REVIVAL SERVICES HELD ON THURSDAY AT THE TABERNACLE

The all-day prayer service held at the First Baptist church Thursday, in preparation for the great revival of all Protestant churches in the city, to begin at an early date,
was attended with great success.
Services were held during the hour exclusively for women, with the men's service, devoted to business men.

The feature of the noon service
was a sermon delivered by Dr. P. S.
Durham, of Emory university, who made a stirring appeal for co-operation of the various churches in the coming revival, which is expected to be the greatest evangelistic
service ever held in Atlanta.

Dr. Durham, it was announced,
will also take a leading part in the two weeks revival of the Inman Park Methodist church, of which Dr. T. R. Kendall is pastor. The revival begins Sunday, and Dr. Durham will preach every night
throughout the two weeks at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting musical program has been arranged, with Charles D. Tilman in charge of singing.

BRICK WALL FAILS TO EXCLUDE YEGGS AT RINGGOLD BANK

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 24.—
The Bank of Ringgold, at Ringgold, Ga., was broken into last night by robbers, who, failing in an attempt to blow open the vault doors, dug
through the thick brick wall, effecting an entrance. The amount of loot secured had not been determined early this morning. Blood-hounds from Chattanooga were called for.

Securing their tools from a blacksmith shop, the burglars went to the bank, dug through the sidewalk into the building and then directed their attack on the vault.
The crime was not discovered until early this morning.

An unsuccessful attempt was made
to break into the general merchandise store of W. O. Ransom at Fort Oglethorpe, but the store of Elmer Chambers, close by, was entered and a small amount of cash and merchandise taken. It is believed the same robbers were responsible.
These robbers are on the route to Ringgold. The Bank of Ringgold was robbed three years ago.

MASQUERADER FINED Jackson Wore Woman's Clothes, Officers Say.

W. Jackson, 30, of 755 Gordon
street, was fined $11 by Recorder
Johnson in police court Thursday
for disguising himself in feminine apparel and promenading about the streets.

He was taken into custody in a room at a downtown hotel by officers, who stated that he appeared upon the streets at unreasonable
hours of the morning attired as a woman, and, suspecting him, they waded him to his room. Jackson made no explanation for wearing women's clothing.

THE very varnish that is best
for your rods, is best for your floors.
Both need one that will lay smooth and stay smooth. One that absolutely ignores the effect of water, hot or cold. One that is so elastic, it will stand the bend-

Judkins—Clark.

Bellaire Heights, Fla., March 24. (Special.)—With only the family and a few close friends present, Miss Kathryne Le. Judkins, the beautiful daughter of W. D. Judkins, was married at the Church of the Ascension this morning to Eben Grove Clark, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia.

After the ceremony the whole party returned to the Bellevue, where they had been staying since early in the week, and where a wedding breakfast was served before the young couple departed in their auto for the East Coast. The wedding breakfast guests included Mrs. Reuben Grove Clark, mother of the groom; H. B. Judkins, brother of the bride, and Mrs. H. B. Judkins; Miss Josephine Clark and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Newton, Miss Laura Neal Newton and Charles S. Avery, Jr., of Savannah.

Social Entertainment.

Members of Woman's Pioneer Society are invited as special guests to a social entertainment to be given by the committee of U. D. C. of which Mrs. Winburn is chairman, at the Confederate Soldiers' Home, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 26. Pioneer members please attend.

Pantry Sale by St. Luke's Guild.

St. Luke's Guild will have a household and pantry sale Tuesday, March 29, at the Taylor Motor company, 232 Peachtree street. Home-made cakes, cookies, candies, preserves, jellies, etc., will be sold, also useful household articles. The patronage of the public is urged.

Theater Party.

Dr. Robert E. Latta entertained at a theater party on Wednesday evening. The guests included Miss Helen Turman, Miss Virginia Walker, Miss Margaret Mitchell, James White, L. L. White and Dr. Latta.

Perry's Petite Players To Give Recital.

An informal recital will be given by Miss Perry's Petite Players at the Brenau studios in Edison hall on Saturday afternoon, March 26, at 5 o'clock.

The young players are unusually accomplished, and having just recently completed their first performance as child actors, they are now working on a second, which is to be ready for presentation sometime in April. Meanwhile the members of this little troupe are doing some attractive recital work which has interested a great number of admirers.

No admission charge will be made for the recital Saturday and everybody has a cordial invitation.

Easter Party for Little Miss Maddox.

Little Miss Laura Baxter Maddox celebrated her fourth birthday yesterday afternoon. "Woodhouse," the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, on Pace's Ferry road.

An Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by the forty young guests present, and prizes were awarded.

The prize for the child who was lucky in finding the golden egg was four yellow baby ducks in a golden cage, which was tied with yellow ribbons.

The one finding the largest number of eggs among the smaller tots was awarded as a prize a pair of white baby rabbits in a golden cage, which was tied with yellow ribbons.

Among the older children, the one finding the most eggs was given a Brownie kodak.

After the hunt the children were entertained at a game of "Peter Rabbit" indoors, and the child pinning the cabbage leaf nearest the mouth of the rabbit was given a "Peter Rabbit" book, and the second and third prizes were a large candy "peep-show" egg and a big white candy rabbit, filled with candy.

In the center of the large square table in the dining room was a Jack Horner pie placed in a yellow basket, the handle tied with yellow ribbon. On the Jack Horner pie was a nest of eggs in which were nestled baby chicks and bunnies.

Yellow ribbon streamers radiated from the basket to the place of each guest, with a yellow baby chick attached to each of the ribbons, concealed in the pie were appropriate favors, novelties pleasing to the heart of every child. Chocolate rabbits and chickens and fancy paper caps also marked the places of each of the forty young guests assembled around the table.

In front of the young hostess was placed a large birthday cake elaborately decorated with yellow tapers and topped by four yellow tapers brightly burning and typifying her four years.

The young hostess was a dainty figure in a beautiful frock of pale yellow dotted Swiss, trimmed in ruffles of Valenciennes lace and on one shoulder a bunch of French flowers was caught, from which fell a shower of pale yellow and blue ribbons. Her fluffy hair was tied with a blue ribbon bow and her slippers and socks were of blue.

In the sun parlor fruit punch was served. The large bowl was embedded in jonquills and other spring blossoms with baby chicks here and there. Miss Ada Alexander served punch.

Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C., Meets.

The Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., held a most interesting meeting yesterday, which was featured by the unanimous passage of resolutions supporting Solicitor General Boykin in his fight against the Atlanta confidence ring.

Interesting reports were made by Mrs. J. C. King, Mrs. Ida Y. Sage, Mrs. C. E. Walker, Mrs. W. H. Sanders and Miss Kathleen Mitchell.

Mrs. David Winburn gave a full and comprehensive report of effort work being done at the Soldiers' home. Her report was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Winburn was accompanied by the Daughters to be present at the home Saturday, when the annual Easter party will be given to the veterans.

Mrs. Harry Goodhart reported city tables sold for the benefit bridge she and her committee will give Tuesday afternoon at the Capital City club.

Governor Brown's Desk. A gift of special interest to the U. D. C. is a desk used by the war governor, Joseph E. Brown, in Ledgewood. This desk was given to Atlanta chapter by O. Wingate, with approval of Governor Brown.

Interesting letters were read from Mrs. Frank Harrold, state president; from Mrs. Roy Weeks McKinney, president-general; and from Mrs. C. Helen Plane, founder of Atlanta chapter and of the Georgia division.

Mrs. Plane, now nearing the century mark in years, is one of the most remarkable women of the south. She retains the enthusiasm of a girl and the zest from Savannah, where she is now visiting her niece, of the delightful tea, dinners and parties she is enjoying. The Saturday

Beautiful Supper Party For Mr. and Mrs. Hofmann

An occasion of social distinction was the supper given last night by Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. DeWitt at their home in Ansley Park, when Josef Hofmann, the great pianist, and his charming wife were guests of honor. Supper followed the brilliant concert given by Mr. Hofmann at the Auditorium.

The most beautiful of the season's wealth of flowers brought the springtime freshness of cut-of-doors into reception and dining rooms. The company of twenty-six was seated for supper at a table artistic in its decoration with the season's flowers in Dresden variety and delicacy of color and elegant in its appointments. The lace cover was laid over white satin and the flowers were arranged in baskets. Tall silver candelsticks were a handsome detail of appointment.

Mrs. DeWitt's becoming gown was of black sequin cloth and rhinestone. Mrs. Hofmann was gowned in white satin and sequin cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofmann, after their brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt, leave today for their winter home in Aiken.

Since there is a strict rule of the Woman's club forbidding solicitation of merchants for prizes, the department is especially grateful to the following who offered prizes of their own accord: The March Hare Tea room, which has given so many people a good time "Down the Rabbit Hole," felt a fellow feeling for an egg hunt and contributed two quaint Peter Rabbits.

Another delightful gift is two Easter prize baskets, one for boys and one for girls from the charming Remembrance Shop, 4th National bank building.

Parents and nurses will be admitted free and everybody will be assured a good time.

Birthday Celebration For Mr. Tillman.

Last Sunday marked the sixtieth birthday of Charlie D. Tillman, one of Georgia's most prominent as well as one of Atlanta's best beloved citizens.

Mr. Tillman was entertained at a beautiful surprise dinner party on Saturday by Mrs. Tillman and her four charming daughters, at their suburban home on Lee street, a beautiful cream brick house, widely known for its hospitable mistress, and wonderful flowers.

Yellow is Mr. Tillman's favorite color, and on this occasion the house was most artistically decorated with yellow flowers.

The dining table had for its centerpiece a large basket of yellow roses and the entire table was sprinkled with yellow rose petals. Only white and gold china was used throughout the five-course dinner.

One of the features of the occasion was the musical program, the selections being charmingly rendered by the different members of the family, including Mr. Tillman's splendid tenor voice, which has perhaps been heard in every state in the south.

Only the members of the happy family were present, including Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Burns and little son, M. M. Jr., Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Douglas, Miss Elizabeth Tillman, and Miss Jim Tillman.

Lady Macabees.

Mrs. Margaret Littleton, of Chicago, thirty supreme commander of the Lady Macabees of the World, will visit the Lady Macabees of Atlanta Saturday, March 26, at 8 o'clock, at 8 1/2 Alabama street (Old Fellows' hall, third floor). This is a rare opportunity for all Lady Macabees of Atlanta to meet their deputy supreme commander. All Lady Macabees are urged to be present.

C. O. H. Girls Entertain.

The C. O. H. girls entertained Monday at a luncheon, which was followed by a Lyric party. The invited guests were Misses Bess Boorstin, Sara Bokritsky, Charney and Mollie Brandel, Zaida Jacobson, Tillie Pollock, Sylvia Robins, Sophy Saul and Ann Weingarten.

Virginian Easter Dance.

The Virginian will entertain their friends at a special Easter dance in their club rooms Monday evening, March 28. The club rooms will be decorated for the occasion and a special music program has been arranged by the noted Turner's Novelty orchestra.

Dancing Party.

Miss Margaret Bryan and Miss Evalina Jones entertained Tuesday

day, March 22, with a delightful children's party for their dancing pupils at their studio in the McKensie building. The studio was beautifully decorated with pink and white spring blossoms.

Pupils of Miss Bryan and Miss Jones gave exhibitions. Miss Anne Faulkner danced an Egyptian number. Miss Gladys Kerr, a Daffodil dance and the Misses Marion and Helen Miller gave a lovely spring dance.

Souvenir packages of candy rabbits and Easter eggs were presented to each child together with a brilliantly colored balloon. Later in the afternoon ice cream was served.

Those present were: Misses Sara Adair, Jane Adair, Lydia McBride, Henrietta Chaloner, Bennie Spriggs Hanger, Harriett Runyan, Constance McDonald, Charlotte Constantine, Emily Malone, Winifred Dickinson, Jane Clifford, Dorothy Shields, Marion Miller, Helen Miller, Gladys Kerr, Anne Faulkner, Aileen Seton, Freda Rahn, Georgia Naedel, Phyllis Naedel, Katherine Johnston, Jocelyn Sadler, Barbara Cohen, Reba Gordon, Alma Roberts, Dorothy Barton, Carolyn Crawford, Josephine Lawler, Anne Lawler, Isabelle Lawler, Helen Noble, Madge Stewart, Mara Stewart.

Messrs. Forrest Adair, Charles Robertson, Rumelle Bradley, Alan Barfield, Jr., Samuel Clarke, Donald McMillen, Blair Patterson, Marion Whitehead, C. Whitehead, Samuel Maddox, Laurie Mozley, Ben Simpson and Howard Kerr.

Miss Nan Rogers, a bride-elect, will be given a miscellaneous shower this afternoon by Mrs. E. D. Brown and Mrs. Clarence Peeler, at their home in Hapeville.

Informal Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Latham will entertain at an informal dinner Tuesday evening, March 29, complimenting their sister, Miss Gladys Greene, and her schoolmate, Miss Erskine Jarnagin, who are at home for the Easter vacation from Mrs. Semple's school in New York.

Missionary Society.

The Woman's Missionary society of P. M. E. church will hold their service this morning from 10:30 to 11:30 and from 3 to 4 in the Sunday school auditorium. The morning service will be conducted by Emory students and Rev. C. J. Harrell, the pastor, will conduct the afternoon meeting. These services are being conducted in the interest of the approaching revival.

Edison Recital.

A special recital will be given this afternoon from 3:00 to 4:00 o'clock at the Edison shop.

Mrs. L. Caesar Stur, of Knoxville, Tenn., will sing on this occasion.

Mrs. Stur possesses a beautiful voice, which shows excellent training and sympathetic quality.

A special program given on the Edison will be of particular merit. The public is cordially invited.

For Miss Christopher.

Miss Josibel Christopher, a bride-elect, will be honor guest at a bridge-tee Friday afternoon, April 1, given by Miss Jean Douglas, at the Atlanta Woman's club.

The guests will include Miss Christopher, Miss Mary Matthews, Miss Martha Louise Cassels, Miss Joyce White, Miss Marian Dean, Miss Frances Dudley, Miss Ethel Tye, Miss Carolyn Tye, Miss Helen Douglas, Mrs. Harry Barnitz, Mrs. Dene Christopher, Mrs. William Rose and Miss Jean Douglas.

Professor Smith Will Lecture.

Prof. F. B. Smith, head of the department of agriculture of the Georgia Tech, will give the last of the series of lectures on art at the Commercial high school on this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. The art of the Renaissance will be discussed and beautiful stereoscopic views shown. The lecture are sponsored by the educational committee of the Council of Jewish Women, of which Mrs. L. H. Moss is chairman. A nominal fee of 50 cents is charged for the lecture and a cordial invitation is extended to all the teachers and pupils of the high schools to be the guests of the council on Friday afternoon.

Bridge-Luncheon.

Mrs. Guy Webb will entertain at a bridge-luncheon today at her home in Decatur for Mrs. Harry Johnson. Covers will be placed for Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Marshall George, Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. Lawrence Eberhart, Mrs. J. B. Gleason, Mrs. Broughton Branch, Mrs. John Goss, Junior, Mrs. G. M. Tripp, Mrs. Charles Weckes, Mrs. C. E. Bothwell, Mrs. F. H. Hester, Mrs. W. S. Calhoun, Mrs. Roy Jones, Mrs. Wyllie Jones, Mrs. R. G. Henderson, Mrs. J. O. Campbell, Mrs. V. T. Fitcher and Mrs. Webb.

Saturday Dances.

Younger members of the Club de Vingt will have two large dances on Saturday afternoon at Craigie house. Arthur Murray will be host to the younger members at 2 o'clock and at 4:30 p. m. the intermediate members will have a tea dance.

The first party will be given for the Monday afternoon class and will be limited in attendance to the members of this group and their friends. The second party of the day will be attended by the boys and girls of the Wednesday and Thursday afternoon classes. Refreshments will be distributed by Mr. Murray. About 500 guests are expected to attend.

Dinner Given for Mr. and Mrs. Dudley.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dudley were entertained at a dinner Wednesday evening by Mrs. Harry Johnson, at their home on East Lake drive, the occasion celebrating the twenty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley.

The sunroom and living room were decorated in a tasteful way with wood blossoms and bridal wreath arranged in vases and urns.

The dining table was a centerpiece of jonquils and bridal wreath arranged in a silver bowl.

The bonbons and gifts were contained in individual yellow baskets, tied with yellow ribbon.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris, Miss Arabella Dudley, Miss Frances Dudley and Mr. and Mrs. William Morris.

Honoring Mrs. Allen.

Mrs. Edward A. Allen, of Campbell, N. J., was honor guest at a bridge-tee yesterday afternoon at which Miss Elizabeth Shaw was hostess, at her home on West Peachtree street.

Spring flowers decorated the apartments where bridge was played, and sprays of apple and peach blossoms were arranged in vases and baskets.

French novelties were awarded as prizes, and the honor guest was presented with bronze book ends.

Mrs. Allen was gowned in mid-night-blue taffeta, lace-trimmed, and her hat was a smart model in blue milan straw.

Miss Shaw was gowned in gray Canton crepe embroidered.

For Miss Jarnagin And Miss Brown.

Miss Erskine Jarnagin and Miss Gladys Brown, of Chabourne, N. C., were honor guests at a bridge-tee given yesterday by Mrs. Howell

Cobb Erwin at her home in the Juniper Terrace.

The guests included Miss Jarnagin, Miss Brown, Miss Gladys Greene, Miss Catherine Erwin, Miss Halie Peole, Miss Elizabeth Whitman, Miss Mary Nevin, Miss Augusta Brewer, Miss Sara Schoen, Miss Annie Earle Farmer and Miss Grace Goldsmith.

The drawing room, where the exciting game was played, was adorned with quantities of jonquils, spirea and snow dogwood blossoms.

The honor guests' prize and that for top score were dainty hand-made handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Erwin was gowned in brown satin, with girdle of tomato-colored crepe.

Miss Jarnagin wore a pretty gown of brown taffeta embroidered in tan wool, with a hat of gray.

Miss Brown was gowned in a smart spring model of spring taffeta, with a becoming hat of straw, flower-trimmed.

Junior Baraca Class To Be Entertained.

Mrs. R. G. Dunwoody will entertain at a beautiful Easter party this evening at her home on Piedmont avenue, in compliment to the members of the Junior Baraca class of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist Sunday school.

Mrs. Dunwoody is a charming hostess, and has given many parties for the high school and college set.

The reception rooms will be decorated throughout with spring flowers, and the dining room, where a delicious ice course will be served, will be artistic with the decorative suggestions of the Easter season.

Thirty-five young school girls have been invited to share honors with the Baraca class, which consists of the following young men: President, Wingate Jackson; vice president, Bennie Jones; secretary and treasurer, George P. Moore, Jr.; telephone chairman, Chester Smith; Harry Cannon and William Gordy; Ratcliffe and William Gordy; leaders of the Purple and Gold teams, Leon Murgin, Russell Bennett, Sam Carter, Thomas Chestnut, Heard George, John Dunwoody, William Hancock, George Jenkins, Thomas Jones, Perry Lambright, Carl Lipold, Otis Mullins, J. G. Marbury, Leon Manderville, Clarence May, Charles Nunnally, March Padgett, Robert Rich, J. C. Fritt, Jimmy Thornton, Egbert Wright, Virgil G. Jones, Hugh Nunnally and Livingston McClelland.

Mrs. George F. Moore, the leader of the class, will assist in entertaining.

SERVICE MEN SLOW IN TAKING VICTORY MEDALS, DECLARED

Washington, March 24.—Difficulty is being encountered by the war department in getting service men of the class, will assist in entertaining.

An official notice today said that 24 officers, whose activities as recruiting agents went under a ban some weeks ago when congress cut the size of the regular army, have been detailed to the task of enlisting the ex-soldiers, and facilitating distribution of the medals.

The country has been divided into six districts for the purpose, and a batch of field clerks assigned to assist the officers. It was stated that the total number of victory medals so far issued is 1,600,000, though the estimates are that 4,000,000 men saw service in the war and consequently are entitled to the distinction.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF U. S. AERONAUTS

Balloon and Five Men Missing From Florida Station—Pigeon Messages Tell of Drifting to Sea.

Pensacola, Fla., March 24. — All efforts to locate the United States navy free balloon and five men missing since it left on a practice flight Tuesday night have been unavailing, although searching parties today searched the Florida coast between Pensacola and Port St. Joe. The balloon was in command of Chief Quartermaster E. W. Wilkinson, as pilot, and carried a machinist mate and three marines. The last information from the balloon was early this morning when two carrier pigeons returned bearing messages. One said that the balloon was off St. Andrews Bay, Florida, drifting toward the open sea. The other, received a little later, said that all ballast had been thrown overboard and that the balloon was then at an altitude of 100 feet, slowly sinking. A navy dirigible and a number of seaplanes and flying boats were immediately dispatched in search of the missing balloonists but up to a late hour tonight have been unable to locate the balloon or any of its crew. The search is being continued tonight and an eagle boat has been ordered to sea to aid in the search.

With Chief Wilkinson in the missing balloon are R. V. Eland, machinist mate first-class and E. L. Kershaw, C. Elder and W. H. Tressy, United States marine corps, all student balloon pilots. The balloon left the naval station here at 5 o'clock on the evening of March 22 for an all night flight. The prevailing winds at the time were southwesterly and the balloon drifted over western Florida in a northeasterly direction. No message was received from the missing balloon which had been released Wednesday night, reached the naval station at Pensacola. The balloon was about 20 miles at sea off St. Andrews Bay, Fla., and suggested that both the balloon and its crew were in danger. The message was somewhat obscure.

Navy officers at the air station tonight held out some hope that the balloon may have struck the Florida coast and that the crew might be able to make their way to shore. The buoyancy of the balloon would increase as the altitude decreased, it was explained, and the pilot might be able to keep his craft in the air long enough to reach the land.

But Few Towns.
There are few towns along the coast in the vicinity of St. Andrews Bay and the balloonists may have landed in some remote region from which it would be impossible for them to communicate with the naval station. The entire coast is protected by barren outer reef varying in width from a few yards to several miles and if the balloonists reached this reef they may have been unable to make their way to shore. The buoyancy of the balloon would increase as the altitude decreased, it was explained, and the pilot might be able to keep his craft in the air long enough to reach the land.

MRS. JACOBS HONORED
Family Entertains Her on Eightieth Birthday.

The family and friends of Mrs. G. Jacobs, mother of Dr. Joseph Jacobs, well-known druggist of Atlanta, entertained her on her eightieth birthday with an informal birthday party Wednesday afternoon at her home, 216 Myrtle street. Among out-of-town members of the family attending the party was Dr. Eugene Jacobs, a son of Birmingham, Ala. Dr. Sydney Jacobs, another son, stationed at the government post at Alexandria, La., was unable to leave his post at the time.

Mrs. Jacobs has six daughters and five sons, all of the latter being either druggists or practicing physicians. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Stern, of Athens, are in the city and attended the eightieth birthday celebration of Mrs. Jacobs. Mr. Stern is a prominent banker of Athens and expected to remain in the city for several days.

BIFOCALS

The Ballard Make
Years of experience, careful study of the eye, the manufacturing of glasses for the correction of eye troubles, enables us with our force of experts to give optical service that is not always found elsewhere. We will do all an honest optician can do for you. There are many cases that need the services of an oculist before they ever get comfort from their eyes—we are familiar with such cases and advise what is best for you. It is much easier for you to keep out of trouble than it is to get out after you are in. We have many thousand patients who will gladly verify the above statement—ask them, they are not hard to find.
